Professional Competition Judges

Coleen Jorgensen

Coleen Jorgensen graduated with a BFA in Illustration from the Art Center College of Design. After graduating her first (mis)adventure in the real world was interning with a legend in advertising, Sally Hogshead at the Crispin Porter Bogusky office in Venice CA. After the four month baptism by fire stint with CPB, she went on to freelance adding work with companies as diverse as Animal Planet, Buca di Beppo, Citi Bank, an Equine magazine (fancy horses for fancy people) and several museums including the Forest Lawn Museum, a gorgeous museum on the grounds of a cemetery. In 2014 she was hired to define, create and implement a comprehensive brand language for Jive Communications, a start up and part of Silicon Slopes in Utah that created software for business phones. With her illustration perspective and curated perfectionism, she was able to create a brand that looked unlike anything in the telecommunications space. A short time later Jive was sold to LogMeIn for $342 million (she's still waiting for her check to arrive in the mail)! She did the same thing with a golf software company, foreUp. She is currently taking on a new challenge working for Zagg, that produces protection and power accessories for consumers and sees the Apple iPhone customer as its target audience.

Farhan Rehmani

In 2019, he then founded Bestview Digital advertising which handles programmatic and social for pharma, megachurches, events, CPG, QSR, retail, and more. In 2018 and 2019, he and his AAF Dallas co-chair won 1st place for Division 1 Club Achievement - Diversity. In 2020, he led AAF Dallas to Division 1 Club Of The Year and was also named AAF Division 1 President Of The Year.
